Introduction

In this essay, I look at my website, which is called "World Mobile Station", where my aim is to make a final diagnosis, and tell about my website, and answer the questions asked.

How the website is suitable for the intended audience and purpose.

Yes, the website serves its purpose. The website consists of 8 pages and a beautiful, lightweight design that makes it easy to use. It provides the necessary information in a simple way that allows users to use this website without any problem. My site has the main purpose of "Make Design", it offers products of various brands of phones and accessories, provides information and characteristics about the product, helps to make a choice. On the main page, users can read the main information about the company, what it can offer them or how to help. The first page has all the hyperlinks to go to other pages of the site, and they are presented in a beautiful way for easy use of the website. My site has 3 pages with IPhone, Samsung, Xiaomi phones, the site has a page with seven cards and their service packages, the site also has a page with information about the company and a feedback form, and a page with information about the company itself.

How the website meets the needs of purpose and user requirements & Evaluation of the design

The design of the website is neat and beautiful for easy use, the banner photo, navigation bar and page header have the same linked collars that create their own style. This website will meet the various needs of users, it contains interesting information about different phone models, interactive videos to help with the choice of the device that the user may need. the website has hyperlinks to company forums, also the website contains 8 user-friendly pages, each photo contains alternative text. All elements of my website are well laid out, which helps users find the information they need.

Example

Include 3 recommendations for further improvements to the website.
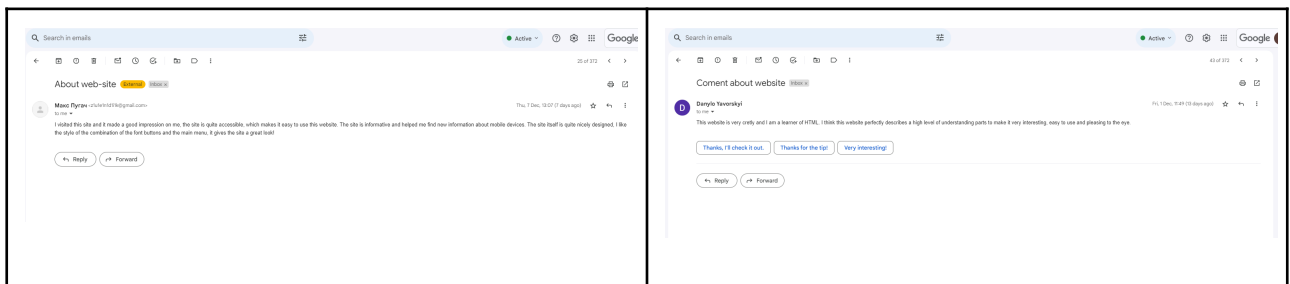

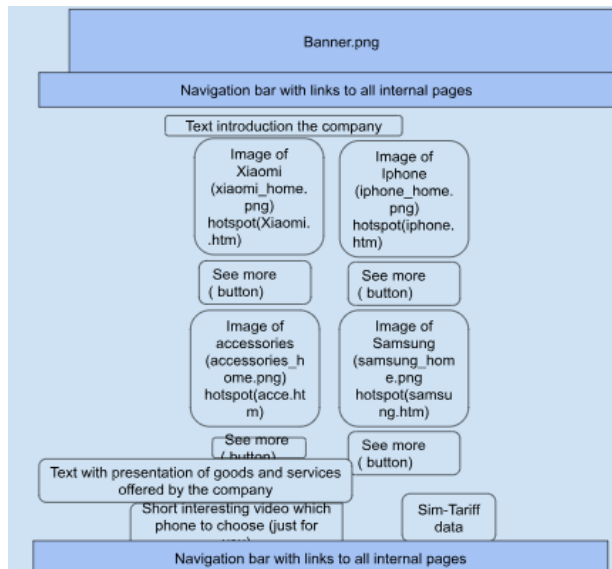

World Mobile Station
This is the main page called index .htm where I have created the 4 main products that the company offers. It meets some user requirements. On the page I added an interactive video that will help you choose a phone model, also on this page I added a feedback form and Hot spots, this is a link to the service of my website. Every image on the site also contains alt text. On the page I created a navigation menu that consists of hyperlinks to other pages of my website, I added a forum to the main page so that people can contact me.
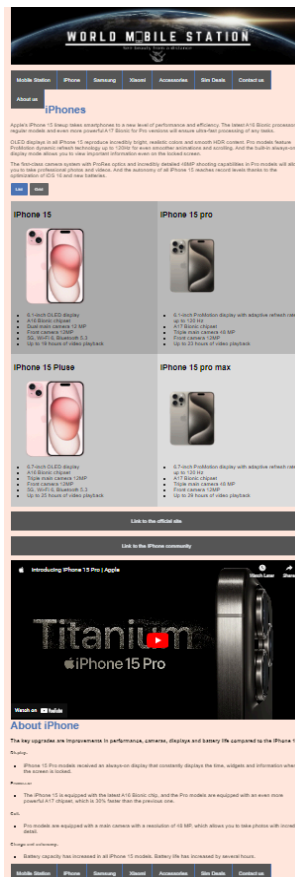

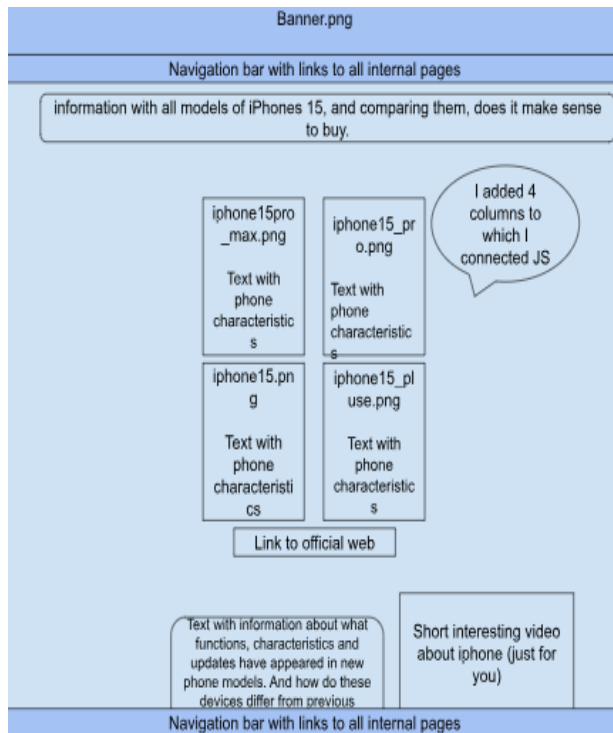

Apple
This is the second page of my website which fulfils some user requirements as it showcases data, information and specifications of the 4 latest iPhones. In it, I have included an interesting video that will help you choose a phone, and a hyperlink to the main Apple website, thanks to which people can compare information or choose the phone model that they like. Each photo on my website contains an alternative text, also on the site there is a Java script that is responsible for changing the column from photos of phones
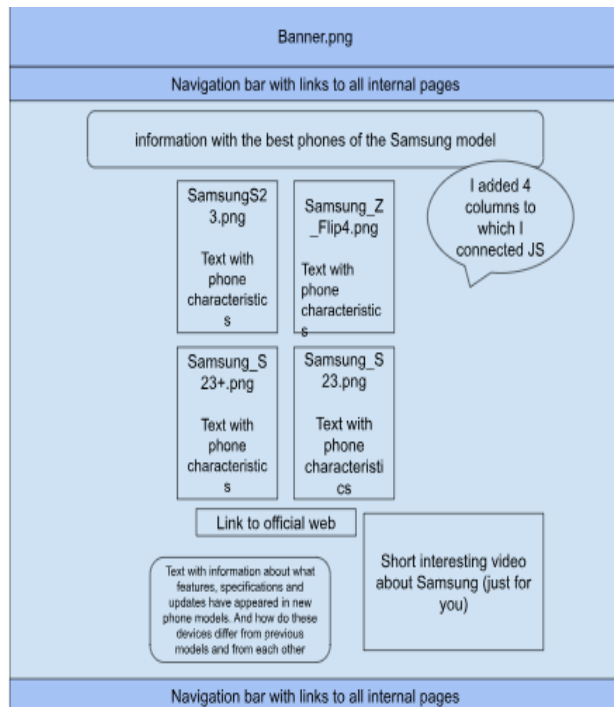

Samsung
This is the third page of the website that showcases Samsung's top 4 data, information and features. The site will meet user requirements as I have added an external link to the Samsung Forums page. It has an interesting video that meets another interactivity requirement, it will help users choose a phone, and a hyperlink to Samsung's main site.
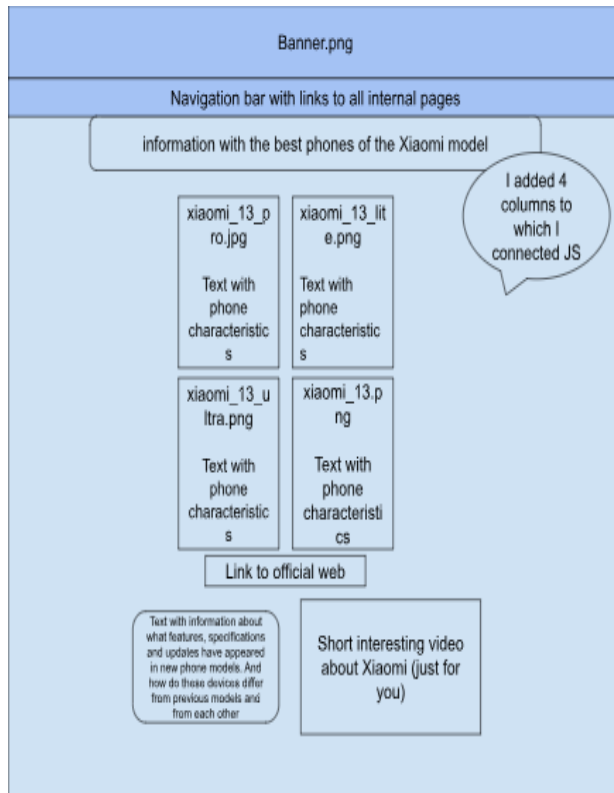

Xiaomi
This is the fourth page of the website which showcases the data, information and features of the latest version of Xiaomi 4. It has an interesting video to help users choose the phone and a hyperlink to the main Xiaomi website.

Accessories
This is the fifth page of the website which showcases the data, information and features of four different power banks for different phone brands.
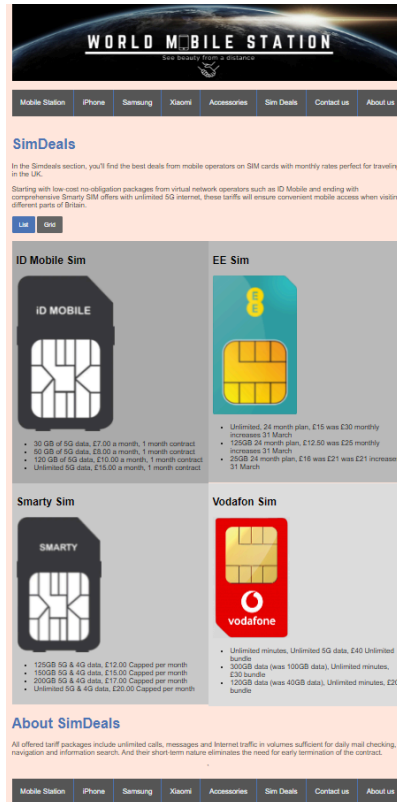

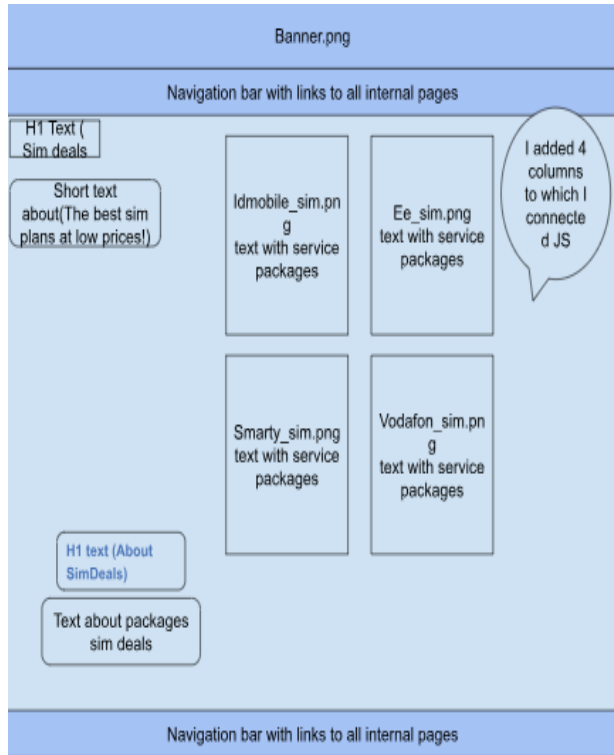

Services
This is the sixth page of the website which shows the information and bundle data of the four SIM cards. On this page I have also considered a lot of requirements for users, the site has a beautifully placed text for users so that it is easy for them to read it, I have also added the 4 most popular SIM cards in the UK and provided a detailed description of the service packages and their prices per month of use

This is the seventh page of the website, which displays information about the company and contact details such as mobile phone and email, I thought about how to display the work schedule for users, and made it in the form of a table with a beautiful design that fits the site, in the table you can see the work schedule. I also added a contact form for feedback on the website.

About As
This is the eighth and final page of the website that displays information about the company. Since the site was just created, it has no achievements, which is why this page turned out to be very raw and needs future updates and improvements to win the trust of users who will visit this website

At the beginning of the creation of the site, the idea was large-scale and quite interesting, but after the beginning of the creation, it underwent drastic changes.

The site is developed and can continue to be improved and updated, according to the initial requests for the creation of the site, it meets some requirements and is suitable for the target audience, it shows a light, beautiful design and easy navigation with interesting information about different brands of phones and power banks for them. For this site, you can add more different accessories and improve its appearance.

From the two users who rated my site, they liked it and rated its design, ease of use, and informativeness of the product

Since the beginning of the development of the site plan, it has undergone various changes, due to which the entire site plan had to be completely changed. Changed the location of all elements on the site pages, the page with accessories, where covers, chargers and power banks should have been. The layout of the page with the feedback form has been completely changed, information about the work schedule, phone number, and mail has been added.

Almost all photos for the site have also been replaced and redone, almost all phone photos have been replaced with a better version, Xiaomi photos have been replaced with phone models. Also, the plan photos on the accessories page have been removed and replaced with other power bank photos that can now be found on my website.

I would add more website design and functionality to expand the product content and showcase it. I would add more information to the company information page to gain the trust of the site users.
